HIGH SCHOOL IN BIBLE CONTEST

R. J. Duke, Assistant State Y. M. C. A. Secretary, Organizes Promotion Class of 36 Today

SCHOOL ALLOWS HALF CREDIT

Preliminary Plans Made For Friendship Conference in March To Be Conducted By College Men

R. J. Duke, assistant secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, organized a high school Bible school class in Rushville today and made preliminary arrangements for a college high school friendship conference to be held here March 15, 16 and 17.

J. H. Schell, superintendent of schools, was appointed general chairman for the conference and a number of committees were appointed to make arrangements for the meeting, which will appeal to all senior and junior high school boys.

The high school Bible class, which is the twentieth formed in Indiana high school during the winter, will enter a state contest January 28, which will continue for twelve weeks, ending April 18.

At the end of the contest the members of the class will undergo an examination, and those who pass it successfully will be entitled to one-half credit in high school work.

A group of thirty-six high school boys, an average of four to the class, was selected today to promote the Bible class campaign and enroll new members. It is expected that from 75 to 90 percent of the boys in high school will become interested in the project.

The promotion group organized by electing the following officers: Foster Hilligoss, president; Farrell Conover, vice-president; Ira McIlwaine, secretary-treasurer; Ralph Noah, sergeant-at-arms.

The Rushville Ministerial association is backing the Bible class work and March conference, and will lend its assistance to perfect the plans. A group of college Y. M. C. A. men will come here for the conference and will be in charge of it.

An effort will be made to find a regular place for the Bible study in the school day. Instructors are yet to be selected.

JUDGE ASKS JURY TO PROBE HIS CONDUCT

T. W. Hutchinson of Clay County Circuit Court Thus Answers His Critic, Mayor Layne of Brazil

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING CRAPS

(By United Press)

Brazil, Ind., Jan. 14—The feud between Judge T. W. Hutchinson of the Clay county circuit court and Mayor Layne of Brazil came to head today as the Clay county grand jury met at Judge Hutchinson's orders to investigate charges of misconduct. In instructing the grand jury, Judge Hutchinson said he was the victim of the "man with a fate" and ordered the grand jury to investigate thoroughly the rumor of his misconduct which he charged had been circulated by Layne's cohorts.

Judge Hutchinson's unusual action in calling the grand jury to investigate himself was the result of rumors that he was at a "stag" party at the Elks club on December 27 when it was raided by a posse of city police headed by Mayor Layne.

The word went around that "his honor" was caught in a crap game "with the bones in his hand all ready to roll 'a natural', but Hutchinson waived all his constitutional rights with respect to testifying against himself, and will appear before the grand jury personally.

Joe Brown, who is employed by Mr. Brann as a truck driver, also suffered a broken arm one day last week while cranking a delivery truck.

FREIGHT AND TICKET AGENTS ARE COMBINED

Jesse M. Higgins is Appointed Head of Pennsylvania and C. I. & W. Offices Here

CONSOLIDATED DURING WAR

Jesse M. Higgins, formerly Pennsylvania railroad agent here, and Pennsylvania and C. I. & W. freight agent following consolidation of the two railroad stations during the war, has been appointed freight and ticket agent for both companies, it was announced today.

The appointment was effective January 7. It is said that the Pennsylvania railroad has been anxious to combine both freight and passenger offices under one head, and when L. C. Snodgrass, former ticket agent for both railroads, was granted a leave of absence December 1, last, the Pennsylvania took the matter up with the C. I. & W., which resulted in the Pennsylvania freight agent receiving the combined appointment.

Mr. Snodgrass, who had been C. I. & W. passenger agent, and the combined passenger agent following the consolidation, was granted a leave of absence and went to Phoenix Arizona for an indefinite stay.

E. F. Rardin, who has been acting ticket agent and day operator for the two roads since the departure of Mr. Snodgrass, will continue to act as day operator.

FEBRUARY 15 WILL REMAIN DEADLINE

Automobile Owners Must Have 1924 Plates by That Time Regardless of Litigation Pending

STATEMENT BY ED JACKSON

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 14—The deadline for securing auto license plates for 1924 is Feb. 15, Ed Jackson, secretary of state, said today.

The state auto department has recommended to the state police and city and county officials of the state that no arrests be made until February 15. This has been the custom in previous years.

Jackson indicated that the deadline would not be extended this year, although the legality of the auto license law is soon to be fought out before the supreme court and many owners have been delaying purchase of license plates pending the outcome of the litigation.

Jackson said the money collected from license plates will be kept intact until after the case is settled so that there will be no confusion in making refunds in the event the law is held unconstitutional.

SPRINGPORT BANK IS ROBBED OF $600

Two Masked Bandits, Both About 20 Years of Age, Hold up Cashier While He's Alone

NEWCASTLE SHERIFF NOTIFIED

(By United Press)

Springport, Ind., Jan. 14—Henry Bowers, cashier of the private bank here, after a check-up this afternoon estimated the amount taken by two bandits who held him up early this morning would not exceed $600.

Bowers explained that the bank, which is a small institution, does not have facilities for safe-guarding large sums of money and that only enough currency for each day's business is kept on hand.

Two masked bandits, both of about twenty years of age, held up Bowers, cashier when Bowers was alone. They ordered him to hold up his hands and rifled the cashier's cage of all money in sight.

The bandits escaped in an Overland touring car. Before entering the bank they cut the telephone wires between the exchange and bank. Bowers ran to a store near the bank and phoned the sheriff at Newcastle that the bandits had cleaned him out.

DUAL INVESTIGATION OF WRECK IS BEGUN

Knox County Coroner And Officers of C. & E. I. Railroad Probe Killing of Six Persons

ALL MEMBERS OF ONE FAMILY

(By United Press)

Vincennes, Ind., Jan. 14—The Knox county coroner and officials of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad today started a dual investigation of the grade crossing accident which cost the lives of six persons, all members of the family of Claude Whittenmeyer, 34, a farmer, when their auto was ground to pieces by a passenger train at Eminon, north of here, yesterday.

Whittenmeyer and his wife, Lula, 32, three daughters, Helen, 16, Loretta, 4, Mary, 8, and a son Charles, three months old, were killed. Every member of the family perished.

Whittenmeyer stopped to let a freight train pass the crossing and then drove on in the path of the passenger train, speeding to make up lost time, on another track.

The auto was smashed and the fragments hurled against the Eminon station. The six occupants were strewn on the tracks. The bodies were terribly mangled.

Whittenmeyer and his family were driving to the home of a relative for Sunday dinner.

Two men standing in front of the Eminon station narrowly escaped being crushed by heavy parts of the auto which were thrown against the station.

WILL BE QUESTIONED ON SCHOOL HACK FIRE

Robert Kemp and Harold Keller of Near Gwynneville Ordered to Appear Before State Fire Marshal

SCHOOL FIGHT IS BLAMED

Robert Kemp of Gwynneville and Harold Keller of near town, have been served with subpoenas to appear immediately before Newman T. Miller, state fire marshal for questioning concerning the burning of a school hack operating between Gwynneville and Morristown.

According to residents of that community, a school hack was burned either late in October or early in November, and after the fire John E. Harper, trustee of Hanover township, is reported to have received a threatening letter in which the writers declared "we'll get you." For a signature appeared a dagger, supposedly dripping with blood. The letter was shown by Mr. Harper to several of his friends.

The burning of the school hack is said to have been the result of a township school fight. It was said that in other parts of the township motor trucks were used to transport the children, while the hack between Gwynneville and Morristown was horse drawn. Before the hack was burned, it was stated that an effort had been made to wreck it, and when this failed it was set on fire.

PREPARES WAY 'FOR A REVIVAL'

The Rev. R. W. Sage Suggests Three Lines Along Which Church Needs Occasional Tuning

REVIVAL OF BIBLE STUDY

Personal Prayer and Making Clear Demands of Christian Life Are Other Needs

In view of the fact that the First Baptist church will begin a special series of evangelistic meetings the first Sunday in February, the Rev. R. W. Sage spoke Sunday morning on "The Revival We Need." The church has secured Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Proctor, of Mt. Washington, Ky., to conduct the music during the meetings. Mr. Proctor will direct the music and Mrs. Proctor will preside at the piano.

Taking for his text, "Wilt thou not revive again, that thy people may rejoice in thee?" Psalm 85:6, and "O, Lord, revive thy work in the midst of the years," Habakkuk 3:2, the pastor said in substance:

"Revivals are a necessary part of God's plan for the church, at least under present conditions. No matter how fine the instrument, it needs an occasional tuning. So the church needs the touch of its Divine Master in just such a way as the finest musical instrument needs to be keyed up again and again. But what kind of a revival does the church need? I would suggest three lines along which we need a revival.

"First, we need a revival of interest in Bible studying. Great revivals have always come when God's people have gone to his Book for new visions of duty and service. At times the ancient Hebrew peoples lost their scriptures and when they did idolatry and sin swept over them. But when they rediscovered the scriptures and pledged allegiance, God's blessing came in full measure.

"We also need a revival in personal prayer. There must be that communion with God which is made possible only by a sense of his ever-present companionship. There must be definite private prayer for those who do not know Christ as a personal Savior. Try to make a prayer list and use it every day as you pray.

"Then, too, there must be a revival which will make clear the meaning and demands of the Christian life. Preaching which does not do that is not worthy of the name. We do not need more people at the price of intelligence. The mere words, 'I accept Christ,' are not enough unless we understand what we mean. Those who come to accept him must come with a clear conception of the demands as well as the privileges of the Christian life."

AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

"The Invisible Companion" was the subject of the morning sermon at St. Paul's M. E. church Sunday morning the text being taken from Matthew 28:30, "I am with you always." He spoke in part as follows:

"No more remarkable promise has ever been uttered. Jesus promised that he himself, a personal, conscious, intelligent presence, would abide forever with his disciples as they went forth to the conquest of the earth. No wonder these last words of Jesus became first with his followers. They gave to his person, his teaching, his ministry, his death and resurrection, new and luminous meaning."

NO TRACE OF JUDGE'S FORD

License Plate Found Near Homer May Have Been Lost Friday

No trace has been found of the Ford sedan belonging to Judge Will M. Sparks, which was stolen from in front of his residence Friday evening, and unless it is found within a few days, all hopes for recovering it will be abandoned.

A license plate from the machine was found near Homer, and it is not known whether it dropped from the car Friday afternoon when Miss Dorothy Sparks was in that community, or whether the thieves threw it down in making their getaway with the car.

meanings. The sunset of their fellowship with Jesus in the flesh was the sunrise of their fellowship with Him in the spirit. In the dynamic power of their invisible, but ever present companion they were to think, to teach, to toil, to suffer, till they placed the world itself at the feet of their Lord.

"The marginal reading of 'Always' is 'all the days.' Lo I am with you all the varied days of your life. How manifold these days are! There are glad days and sad days and mad days and bad days. There are bright days and dark days and gray days. There are the days of youth, then life is fair and full of promise for the boundless future. There are days of midlife, when the battle is hard and the burdens heavy, then the illusions and dreams and hopes of youth seem fading into the hard stern realities of existence. There are the days when the knees weaken, the steps falter, the strength declines and the hands tremble, for life's little day is passing and sun will soon be setting and the shadows will steal across the sky. "In all these days we have the promise of his immediate presence, a world presence that transforms the world for us and transforms us for the world."

The power of the Invisible Companion was illustrated from lives transformed and from the achievements of great missionary heroes, inspired by the presence of the Invisible Companion.

AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

The Rev. Gibson Wilson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, spoke Sunday morning on "The Relation of Our Possessions to Our Life." He drew his lessons from the 16th chapter of Luke. The first lesson was from the unjust steward. The second from Dives and Lazarus. He spoke in part as follows:

Read Luke chapter 16:1-2 and 19 to 31.

We have here two great sermons delivered by Jesus on the right use of our earthly possessions with regard to our prospects of another world.

The first address is on the unrighteous steward. His rascality and wrong doing are not commended but the zeal and enthusiasm are recommended as traits worthy of emulation by the people of God.

The world can teach the Church a great many lessons and it would be well for the church if her members lived with the enthusiasm for the things that are eternal that the men of the world live for the things that perish with this life.

The second address is on Dives and his attitude toward Lazarus.

He is not condemned because he wore purple and fine linen, nor because he lived in abundance, and every meal was a festival, but because while he lived he utterly ignored Lazarus and used his wealth only for his own gratification.

Doing nothing when Lazarus lies at our gate is great wickedness. His attitude toward his wealth as related to other fashioned for him a character which went with him into the land beyond the grave.

Both these addresses were delivered to about the same audiences. They have wise instruction for us in our day. When Abraham says: "Son remember," we are cautioned, that memory is the first voice that meets us on the eternal shore. The future is so interwoven with the past that it is indispensable to the happiness of the redeemed and strikes deeply into the sadness of the lost.

Let us notice first, what is our relation to God. We are stewards God is the Creator, and by virtue of that, he is the original owner. Men platted off the earth's surface, and by improving it, made it more valuable. For the privilege of controlling that portion they pay a purchase price.

Back of it all they are using God's lands, or properties. We speak of my land, my house, my business, and yet we are only God's tenants.

And being God's stewards he has the right to demand the rental of the steward. The unbeliever is under obligation to him as well as the believer. If the earthly steward were not faithful to his landlord he would soon be compelled to give up his stewardship.

In the Old Testament, no person was considered to have given a gift to God unless he had given beyond his tithe. The tenth was the lowest percent that God was willing to accept.

If I borrow a large sum of money from the bank, and merely pay the interest, I haven't paid my debt until I have paid on the principal. I have only paid for the use of the money.

Notice again that there is great power for good in Christian stewardship. The way we handle our money and possessions here has a great deal to do with our religious enjoyment and religious life, here and hereafter.

Christian organizations should drive forward the business of the Church with the same enthusiasm that they drive forward their own business.

Let a band of men bind themselves

together with that faithfulness of stewardship to God and they can make this the strongest church in the country.

Let us render a faithful account of our stewardship.

In addition to the tithe let us give a thank offering. Let us take a lesson from "The children of this world" and with their enthusiasm and zeal let us enter into the great tasks of the Church with its world wide missions.

AT FIRST U. P. CHURCH

The morning sermon at the United Presbyterian church was based on Genesis 47:9 "Few and evil have been the days of the years of my pilgrimage."

Jacob had few advantages compared to us moderns. He had no school, no Bible, no church, no Bible school, no religious literature, few helpful associations. His father was devout and disposed to meditation.

His mother was one of the best women of her day; but very far from perfect. Jacob had pure blood in his veins. His body was strong and his brain clear. At an early age he left home with all his earthly possessions tied up in a napkin. He had his hands and his brain and a chance to win a diploma in "The University of Hard Knocks."

Jacob had also severe temptations. He was mother's pet and she was a master of strategy. Rebekah was not the equal of Isaac either in character or in honor. She taught her son to step aside into questionable practices. She laid the plan to deceive Isaac in all its subtle details. She answered every objection raised by Jacob and soothed his boyish conscience by being willing to take the blame. Then she pushed him on to lie and deceive and steal. God pity the boy whose mother teaches him to do evil. At Haran Jacob was tricked by Laban and in turn he, by devious methods possessed himself of the flocks and herds of Laban. Jacob's sons deceived him in the matter of Joseph and the shadows of a great sorrow rested on his life. So he must say to Pharaoh towards the close of his life "Few and evil has been my days."

Jacob was not able to trust God. This was the secret of his sin and of his sorrow. He did not trust God to fulfill his promises. It had been revealed to Rebekah concerning Esau and Jacob, "the elder shall serve the younger." Again "Jacob have I loved but Esau have I hated." This gave Jacob the first place as touching the birthright and the patriarchal blessing. But he could not await God's turn and way; but secured it by deception and hard bargaining.

He could not trust God to prosper him in his business. So he schemed, and he planned and he won success by dishonest and indirect methods.

He could not trust God to protect him from danger. At the Jabbok he was in real distress because Esau was coming with 400 armed men. How much better it would have been to have dealt squarely with his brother and then to have committed himself to the protection of his God.

Faith is the solution of life's problems. Jacob was a hero of faith, but he fell back on that when all else failed. Wilful child of nature that he was, he must be scourged by the whips of God's providences until he learned faith. Wiley suppliant that he was, he must be chastened by a father's hand until he learned that God can be depended on, and that His promises are sure.

Life should ripen into triumph. God never intended any of His children to say at the close of life "Few and evil have been my days." "The path of the just is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day."

In the evening the sermon was based on Matt. 22:12 "And he was speechless." The rejector of salvation will be speechless when his Lord says "Why?" The neglecter of God's worship cannot answer when His Lord requires of him a reason. The disobedient professor of religion will find no apology in the day when he is judged.

WINTER HAZARDS FOR MOTORISTS

Safety Message From Hoosier State Auto Association Carries Word of Caution to Drivers

PAVED ROADS DANGEROUS

Icy Pavements, Slick Roads, Soft Roadways, Deep Ruts and Gulleys, Cause of Accidents

(Special to the Daily Republican.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 14—Winter driving of motor vehicles, while quite not so "crowded" as in the summer, carries its special hazards which many owners fail to realize or, knowing them see fit to try and "get by" without proper precautions, according to a safety bulletin just issued by the Hoosier State Auto Association, the state-wide organization of automobile owners.

"With the steady increase in mileage of hard surfaced roadways" the bulletin says, "traffic is bound to be heavier than previously even during the winter months, and these hard, smooth road surfaces offer certain hazards in wet, stormy and wintry weather not common to gravel road." The safety message continues as follows:

"Wet concrete roadways or wet brick or asphalt pavements present the ever-present danger of skidding with any sudden application of the brakes. This fact alone should induce more caution in regard to the speed of winter-time driving. We urge every driver to think of the chances he is taking—and then not take them again.

"Icy pavements present the most extreme hazard and call for the precaution of using tire chains of some description. Otherwise the driver will have no control over his vehicle in case he tries to stop, slow-down or dodge some other vehicle at even a moderate rate of speed. Even with chains on he is apt to be entirely out of control without a split-second's warning and he is more apt to skid into a ditch, a telegraph pole, or worse, than he is apt not to.

"Beware of the rain that freezes as it falls, if you are on a hard surfaced road. Beware of the snow that turns to slush and then freezes at nightfall.

"Beware of frozen snow ruts, also, for without chains you can't get out of them and are apt to go skidding to a terrible smash in making the effort. Even with chains "cross overs" from one set of ruts to another is risky and should not be attempted without slowing down even to less than ten miles per hour.

"Paved hills will be extremely tricky if there is ice or snow thereon. Descending grades of even moderate steepness should be taken "in gear" with the engine acting as a brake on your descent.

"Never attempt to pass another car near the top of a paved hill or to overtake and try to pass another car on a paved curve. Too many chances of meeting another vehicle from the opposite direction at any second. This applies to all seasons of the year.

"Driving at night during a rain or snow storm without a windshield wiper is almost suicidal and has many potentialities for manslaughter by reason of the danger of running down a pedestrian. Even a horse will feel his way in places where he can't see where he is going. Be yourself! That is, be at least as wise as the dumb beasts.

"In driving over a paved road after a fresh-fallen snow ALWAYS DRIVE TO THE RIGHT OF THE PAVEMENT. This will result in at least two sets of wheel tracks, which when they thaw and freeze will give at least a two-way thoroughfare. Beware of the single track set of snow-ruts down the middle of the road AND DON'T MAKE SUCH RUTS YOURSELF!

"In short, all drivers must remember they can not spin along on paved roads that are covered with snow, ice or rain, with the same freedom as during the summer season. Unless all drivers apply safe and sane thinking while driving the toll of accidents during the present winter is apt to be serious."

The Hoosier Auto Association announces that its work is continuing with hardly any interruption, seeking to increase the number of danger warning signs and direction signs. "We don't stop in our work for safety or in our activities for protection and service to the automobile owners of Indiana," the bulletin says, and adds: "We are again urging an increased membership support among owners of the state to help finance our untiring efforts in their behalf."

REAL ESTATE MEN TO HOLD A CONFERENCE

Better Living Conditions Will Be A Major Subject Considered at Session Which Begins Jan. 17

450 TO ATTEND MEETING

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 14—Better living conditions will be a major subject considered by the national committee of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, which opens a three-day session here Jan. 17.

Representatives of 450 real estate boards of the United States and Canada will attend the meeting to discuss clarification of real estate values; rental conditions, real estate utilization, city building and rebuilding, and real estate and general taxation.

The session will be the principal gathering of real estate men of the country to be held this year for the formulation of policies.

L. F. Eppich of Denver, president of the association, will present to the meeting the program for the association as recommended by the directors. This program includes gathering a comprehensive body of real estate education and advancing real estate development through state and national legislation.

Directors and officers of the association, forming the advisory board will hold sessions Jan. 16 and Jan. 20, preceding the following the sessions of the national committee.

The subject of taxation will be presented to the meeting by Charles T. Moffet of Minneapolis, chairman of the taxation committee, which has made an extensive study of the question. He is expected to recommend support of the Mellon tax plan in congress.

The case told below is not an uncommon thing. The same occurs frequently and will continue to happen as long as folks have kidneys and overtax the kidneys.

Wm. Ash, 511 N. Sexton St., Rushville, says: "I can say a good word for Doan's Pills for I have used them several times when my back has been lame and sore. My kidneys were weak and felt dull and heavy and the secretions were too free in passage. I used a box of Doan's Pills which I purchased at Johnson & Co's Drug Store and they completely relieved me of the trouble. GOOD ROADS' INDUCEMENT

Cause of Many Physicians Coming to This State From Kentucky

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 14—Good roads in Indiana offer an inducement for young physicians to leave Kentucky for Indiana, according to Dr. William T. Gott, secretary of the State board of medical registration and examination.

The greater ease with which a physician can serve a rural community over hard-surface roads actually is a determine factor in many young Kentuckians coming to Indiana to practice medicine, Dr. Gott said.

As a class, more young Kentuckians settle in Hoosier rural communities than natives of the other surrounding state because roads in the other state compare favorably with Indiana roads, than do Kentucky roads, he declared.

The Bok Peace Award

It is a foregone conclusion that the Bok peace plan essay will receive a favorable majority in the referendum that is being conducted through the press and the magazines.The stage is all set for it. All altruistic people who hope to end war by some means or other will vote for it, regardless of whether they are prepared for an intelligent vote on the question through reading and a thorough study of the problems that stand in the way of international peace.But a referendum in many respects is like an election, only less convincing, because those who are interested vote for the project under discussion, some of those opposed are strong enough in their opposition to take the trouble to vote and a large disinterested per cent fail to take any side.Those who have studied the winning plan in the Bok peace award say that it is a relish of peace proposals heretofore made, with the single exception of one new thought—that the manufacture and sale of arms be limited during times of peace.Word comes from Washington that the senate, which is clothed by the constitution with authority to make peace, will not officially recognize the winning plan.Perhaps this is as it should be.
The framers of the constitution had the good judgment and foresight to realized that the common people, by talent and disposition, were not learned enough in the important questions of international relations, to decide them intelligently. So they delegated to the chief executive and the more deliberative branch of the congress the authority to determine

our policy toward other nations.

No one can deny that an effort is not being made to find a practical plan for ending war, which the people generally will accept. Many disagree on plans that have already been proposed and many believe that the United States should enter the league of nations, but nothing has been found yet that this country can sponsor, which is free from entangling foreign relations, such as opponents of the league of nations oppose.There are now three outstanding plans before the present session of congress in the form of joint resolutions.One of them provides for the outlawing of war and an international agreement of such judicial character as "would not shackle the independence or impair the sovereignty of any nation."Another would amend the constitution to provide for a referendum of the voters on the question of a declaration of war.Still another calls for a constitutional amendment providing for the conscription of money, industry and property as well as men in case of war.This constant seeking for a way to end war indicates an honest effort to find the road to peace and who can say that it may not bear fruit?

Invest Your Money at Home

International bankers and bond houses are importing the American public to invest its money in foreign bonds, and many are doing so.But are such investments at this time wise?
Let us see.During the past few years hundreds of thousands of Americans have invested good American money in German marks. They bought the marks at a low figure, expecting to become suddenly prosperous when mark went up to par again. But the mark didn't go up. Instead it went steadily down, until today it is hardly worth the paper on which it is printed.With the exception of England, Europe is dotted with countries that owe the American government vast sums of money, about seven billions of dollars, in which not even the interest is being paid.A foreign government bond is no more secure than the government that issues it. We have an illustration of the fact in the utter collapse of the mark.If these foreign securities were as valuable as bond houses represent them to be the rich men of those countries could and would absorb them, or at least a majority of them.
Do you see them doing anything of the kind?If foreign countries can not or will not pay the interest on what they already owe us is it the part of wisdom for us to pour more good money into a bottomless pit?There are plenty of opportunities in this country for the investment of every dollar that is available for that purpose, and American investments are the soundest securities in the world today.When Europe makes an honest effort to pay us what they owe us it will be time to think again of sending money abroad.But until then wisdom warns us to keep that money at home.

Breaks Through to Basket

The Webb high school basketball team made the Fountain City high school team of Wayne county take the count here Saturday night, by the score of 29 to 20, in a game that was easy for Webb, and they were not forced at any time to exert themselves.

The first half ended 18 to 11, and in about all stages of the game Webb kept a 7 to 10 point lead. During the first few minutes Fountain City had a tight defense, but Webb gradually broke through, and got many under the basket shots.

Each team missed a great many shots, and the visiting team was handicapped by the low ceiling at the Modern Appliance building, where Webb plays their games.

Osborne scored first for Webb, and Evans, the Fountain City floor guard, colored, who was fast as lightning, missed a chance on a goal. Gibson, for Webb missed a couple also, and the score was tied at two when Hatfield caged a field goal.

Fair for Webb scored a field goal, and came right back and scored another, making the count 6 to 2. Osborne soon followed with one, that gave Webb 8 and the visiting team 2. Gibson fouled and Evans made another point for his team.

Webb made it 10 to 3, when Davison tossed in both chances on Thomas' foul, and Hatfield soon counted one point for the Wayne county team on a Webb foul, making the score 10 to 4. Fair scored his third field goal for Webb. The local team missed two chances to score on Hyre's foul, and Gibson failed to register the two goals. Davison, Webb center, dropped in a goal for two points, that made the score 14 to 4.

When Gibson fouled the Fountain City floor guard again, Evans scored the one point, and Hatfield soon took a field goal, that gave Fountain City hopes, with the score 14 to 7. Dillon fouled, and Osborne missed. Dillon scored a field goal for the visitors, making the score 14 to 9.

Davison was given two chances on a foul, and missed each, and in turn caught the ball off the hoop and tossed it in for a field goal, and Osborne scored next from the field, making the score again doubled 18 to 9. Before the half ended, Evans dropped in a field marker, leaving the score 18 to 11 at the half.

Webb opened the second half with an old-time stride and the basket was hit for two times in quick succession by Davison and Osborne, and Fair scored on Evan's foul, making the score 23 to 11, in the first few minutes of play.

Dillon for the visiting team scored a field goal, and Evans missed two shots on a foul, but Thomas took advantage of an open chance and hit the ball in from the field, making the score 23 to 15, with Webb still holding a good margin.

Within the next few minutes Osborne was given two chances on a foul committed by Evans, but the Webb player missed, and then Osborne fouled Evans and he missed his two chances.

Thomas for the visitors scored and Osborne matched it, making the score 25 to 17. Hatfield scored on a foul, making Fountain City one more point. Then Davison scored a point on a foul for Webb, making the score 27 to 18. Hatfield for Fountain City missed a foul, and ran up on it for a field goal, making the score 27 to 20, but before the game ended Fair tossed in another field goal, putting the final touch of 29 to 20 on the game.

NEWSY GOSSIP IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

FOUNTAIN CITY IS
SHORT ON PRSSUE

HITTIN' 'EM
AND MISSIN' 'EM

Webb didn't have much trouble in trouncing the Fountain City team here Saturday night, 29 to 20, and at no time did the Spiders have to put forth any great effort. Those from the Fountain City stated that their team was not playing in good form, and Hittin' 'em told them that it was a good thing for them that Webb wasn't showing their class either.

WHAT THEY THINK OF RICHMOND

Fountain City and Hagerstown fans were numerous, and between halves, what they said about Richmond would make the Quakers throw up the sponge right now. Petty jealousy was in evidence, as these two Wayne county crowds have about as much love for the county seat, as a person has for Sing Sing. Such prophecies that Richmond would be easy for 'em in the tourney, and that they hadn't showed anything yet, would only tend to strengthen our opinion that Richmond has the best of the bargain, and that Fountain City or Hagerstown has about as much chance winning from them as Paduak would have defeating Passaic.

Webb, when they are working right, has one of the best teams in these parts, and when the size of the school is taken into consideration, Hittin' 'em wouldn't be a bit surprised if they wouldn't win the first prize.

Coach Patterson of the Webb team had his team playing against the fellows he coached last year, as he came from there to Webb this year.

K-TOWN GETS A JOLT

Greensburg's 23 point victory over Knightstown Saturday night sorta looks like the Tree City aggregation is coming back, and they will give our Lions a race January 31. The Greensburg team has been strengthened by a first class forward since the game played in that city.

Trojans SHOW THEIR STUFF
After dropping a two point game to Spiceland Friday night, Newcastle came back Saturday night and won a 10 point game from Technical of Indianapolis. The Trojans are now laying plans to snatch a bite from the Hawks Friday night.

Shelbyville is making a big campaign to launch one of the regional tourneys. Would be sorta handy to us, but if it is all the same to Mr. Ihsaa we'd just as leave go to Bloomington or Ft. Wayne.

SHELBY BOOKS LIONS FOR NEXT YEAR

Shelbyville according to Short Passes, will meet several new teams next year on their schedule, and for some unexpected reason, they have listed the Lions on their card. That's fine, Shelby, wish we had a game with you next week. The following comment is made:

In addition to these Columbus, Franklin, Martinsville, Bloomington, Fort Wayne, Richmond, Lebanon, and others will be on the Shelbyville schedule. Muncie will also be played. South Side of Fort Wayne will appear here next year, as Shelbyville played there this season. Richmond will be met at Richmond, and Bloomington will be played at Bloomington.

NEWCASTLE PICKS A BIG TEN

Markin' 'em up at Newcastle has picked his Big Ten and quotes the following:

We promised to pick our Big Ten for you, and here it is:

1. Anderson.
Webb 29 Fountain City 20
Osborne -----F----- Thomas
Fair -----F----- Hatfield
Davison -----C----- Dillon
Gibson -----G----- Evans
Wagoner -----G----- Hyre
Substitutions, Webb, Young and Elliot; Fountain City, Shwalter.
Field goals, Osborne 5, Fair 4, Davison 3, Thomas 2, Hatfield 3, Dillon 2, Evans. Foul goals, Fair, Davison 4, Hatfield 2, Evans 2. Referee Brown

2. Bedford.
3. Muncie.
5. Frankfort.
6. Martinsville.
7. Shelbyville.
8. Bloomington
9. Vincennes.
10. Jefferson, of Lafayette.

This Big Ten was picked impartially to any one team, and is based on the showing made by the various teams. It will be changed to accord with the standing of each team as they win or lose. If we were to keep on picking, we would give the following teams honorable mention in the order in which they come: Crawfordsville, Columbus, Bainbridge, Kokomo, Richmond, Rushville, Rochester and Mooreland.

LIONS IN 9TH PLACE

C. E. D. writing to Hoosier Courtship in the Richmond Palladium says his team is capable of playing better, and adds this:

"But I think the team can overcome their difficulties and get going again. Here is my idea of the Big Ten: Bedford, Anderson, Muncie, Frankfort, Richmond, Martinsville, Franklin, Connersville, Rushville, Kokomo. Sincerely, S. E. D."

From the Press Box of Kokomo, comes the following:

Bloomington is in the upgrade having defeated Martinsville 32 to 24 Friday night, and the Rushville "Roarin' Lions" spread fear in the hearts of Rush county teams by defeating Liberty 57 to 11.

GAME HERE FRIDAY

The Blue Birds of Carthage play here Friday night and will meet the Webb team. Good chance to look 'em over, folks.

Rushville, Indiana

Dear Hittin' 'em—
"Rushville to the finals," the battle cry of the Rushville crowd two years ago. It looks as though we might use the same cry again this year, although its rather early yet to decide. Rushville has just as good a team this year as they had two years ago, with a lot more "fight". We are a lot better situated in regard to substitutes this year than we were then and only a great calamity can keep us away from the coliseum along about the first or second week in March. Since this is the time of picking Big Tens, Big Sixes and all county teams, and everybody has a right to their own opinion, here comes my selections:

Big Ten: Bedford, Anderson, Muncie, Franklin, Vincennes, Frankfort, Rushville, Bloomington, Shelbyville and Martinsville.

Big Six: Rushville, Carthage, Mankila, Moscow, Raleigh, and Webb.

All county team: forwards, Hilligoss and Snoddy, Rushville, Baker, Mahilla; centers, Gosnell, Moscow and Craig of Raleigh; guards, Osborne, Webb, Comella, Rushville and McCorkle, Milroy.

Say, Hittin' 'em, you'll be right at home up there at the coliseum with Georgie Purcell, Bobby Starr and the rest of the bunch and you can show them, it's not all wind that blows from this direction.

Hoping to see you at the coliseum, I am yours,
R. A. CHIESS
"Corner of 7th & Willow," Rushville.

P. S. What game was it last year in one of the tournaments that Rushville played two overtime periods, and what was the score?

NINTH PLACE AGAIN

E. T. C. of Kokomo, makes his selection to the Press Box in the Tribune, as follows:
Press Box—Here's my Big Ten. How does she look?
1. Bedford; 2. Anderson; 3. Frankfort; 4. Franklin; 5. Muncie; 6. Shelbyville; 7. Martinsville; 8. Columbus; 9. Rushville; 10. Kokomo.

I am not crazy about this Frankfort crew but they do impress me as being a bunch of clean, hard fighters. Anderson and Bedford are undoubtedly the class of the state.

Punch Winning Factor in Ball

HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Jan. 14—"Inside baseball will not do it all," Connie Mack said recently, "the punch is more necessary."

The tall leader of the Philadelphia Athletics was explaining the reasons that prompted him to start buying all the young minor league stars he could afford to acquire.

Mack is one of the smartest of all baseball men and when he admits that the sock is more to be desired than brain, it is a striking indication of what Babe Ruth and the lively ball have done to the game.

Mack has had a smart baseball team for two years and last season he started out with the Athletics as if his long-expected arrival had arrived. But the team slumped in mid-season, dropped twelve games in a row and was out for the year.

Hitting, as Hans Wagner pointed out, has almost entirely changed baseball. It has developed new ideas of fielding, rendered base stealing almost obsolete and removed pitching from the list of fine arts.

Still, with all the slugging, poor pitching and spotty fielding, it is a good old game. The fans like hitting and it is the business of the magnates to furnish, as near as possible the kind of baseball that is most desired.

While the value of hitting has become exaggerated, it is no theory that a team needs a certain amount of slugging or consistent hitting to win a championship.

It has been a good many years since a team went through to a pennant without hitting strength. The factor that hitting has become in the modern game was demonstrated last season when the Giants clubbed their way through to a pennant with a most miserable staff of pitchers.

KNOTTY PROBLEMS IN BASKETBALL

The Republican has arranged with the Joint Basketball Rules Committee, which promulgates annually the amateur rules governing the game, to answer all questions regarding interpretation of the playing rules. Readers desiring information on any problems which may have arisen during a game can have their questions answered officially by addressing the Joint Basketball Rules Committee, care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed 2-cent stamped envelope for direct reply.

Ques.—Player A holds his opponent player B, and at the same time B runs with the ball. How are the offenses penalized? Ans.—A's foul for holding is penalized by free throw or throws; B's violation is not penalized. The same situation occurs when a player is fouled as he shoots for goal and the ball goes out of bounds. Although the player has caused the ball to go out of bounds and thereby has committed a violation, only his opponents' foul is penalized.

Ques.—At the close of a recent game, the referee announced the score as 28-26 in favor of the visiting team. Soon after, the scorers in checking up, agreed that they had made a mistake and that the score was a tie, 28-28. The referee went to the dressing room and ordered the players back for an extra period. The visiting team refused to return on the grounds that they had taken their showers and were dressing. Was the game forfeited to the home team? Ans.—It should not have been forfeited, but should have been declared a tie game. The referee's original announcement of the score ended his connection with the game and he had no right to order the teams later. If both teams consented to return and play off the tie, the referee would resume charge of the game.

Ques.—If the ball strikes an official, is the ball dead? Ans.—No, the ball continues in play just as though it had not touched the official.

Ques.—In a recent game, one of our players was dribbling down the court when an opponent who had rushed to meet him, was knocked down. The referee called a foul on our player. Was this right? Ans.—Questions like this cannot be answered from a description of the play; it is a matter of judgment and the play must be seen. The foul is on the one whose action was responsible for the personal contact, and the officials in charge of the game should be trusted to give impartial judgment. In general, a dribbler has no right to run into an opponent who has taken a position on the floor. On the other hand, the opponent has no right to run into the dribbler in an attempt to get the ball. In the latter case, even though the opponent is knocked down, the foul may be on him. Sometimes it is a double foul, both players being responsible for the contact.

Ques.—A player who has been awarded two free throws, steps on the free throw line in trying the first throw. Rule 14, Sec. 2, says this is a

Girl's Team Scores 60 Points, Setting a Record

COACHES IN RETURN GAME

Fairview Will Attempt to Even up
With Rush County Mentors

The big drawing card this week at the Fairview high school gym will be the Rush County Coaches, who meets the Fairview A. C. team in a return game on Wednesday night.

The coaches are the only team in Rush or Fayette counties that have defeated Fairview this year, and they won from them on the Modern Appliance floor in this city, 36 to 32, in a real game.

So Wednesday night Fairview is going to try to even up with the coaches. Fairview went good last week when they defeated Shelbyville and Arlington, last year's district champions.

The curtain raiser will be played between Glenwood high school and the Fairview high school, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

KELTS DOWN THE HOME TEAM

Local Basket Tossers Win on Foreign Floor, 31 to 14

The Rushville Kelts downed the L. S. & S. Orphan's Home team Saturday night, on their floor in northern Rush county, with the final result being 31 to 14. Martin with 6 and Moore with 7 goals, led the local team in points, while for the Home team, Baker and Mayo were best. The line-up and summary:

Kelts 31 L. S. & S. O. Home 14

center ball whether the goal is made or not, and the goal if made does not count. Does the player lose his second free throw? Ans.—No. The first, if made, does not count, but he is entitled to try the second. If the second is legally tried, it counts if made and if missed the ball is in play

$100,000 Breach of Promise Suit of Mrs. DeBouchel, On Docket For Hearing January 30

IS NEW ORLEANS BEAUTY

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 14—The one hundred thousand dollar breach of promise suit of Mrs. Onezima DeBouchel, New Orleans beauty, against Asa G. Candler, aged Atlanta millionaire, is on the docket for hearing in federal court here January 30.

Since the suit was filed some months ago, Candler has married a former stenographer.

Mrs. DeBouchel filed the suit in response to Candler's claim that after their engagement he had cause to believe the New Orleans beauty had been indiscreet during the Confederate Veterans convention here some months previous, for which she was the official sponsor.

After repeated efforts to force the aged millionaire to make public the source of his information and specify his insinuations, Mrs. DeBouchel filed suit for damages.

The suit had been only temporarily set on the docket for January 30, but as both sides have indicated they are ready for the hearing there probably will be no postponement. The case will be heard in federal court because the principals are residents of different states.

Next month the damage suit of Mrs. Clyde Byfield against Walter Candler, son of Asa, is scheduled to be heard in the Decatur superior court.

YOU CAN'T KID A KIDDER

Tears, Jokes About Drug Store in Kansas

By JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

New York, Jan. 12—There's some people that've nearly killed themselves laughin' at the way Nina Wilcox Putnam kids the life out of folks and their troubles.

So when Nina blew in from Florida to find herself confronted by a divorce action that didn't take; and some matrimonial mix-up or other where some women claimed that she, Nina, was trying to take the other woman's husband, we just couldn't resist lovin' over to Nina's hotel to find out how she was bearin' up under the strain.

We found Nina's little ole sense of humor still hittin' on all six, thank you.

"When I get out of this mess," she confided confidentially "I'm going out to Kansas and take up a quarter section of land and start a drug store."

Just what got Nina to thinkin' of the Kansans at that particular moment we couldn't make out. There she was, propped up in a brass bed with dents in it, her hair, which is her chief glory, stuck under one of those lace caps than which nothing looks goshawfuller on a woman, and her shoulders wrapped up in some cafe-au-lait mixture of a bath robe.

Her eyes were all red and swollen with weeping and her hands were just achin' to start pluckin' at the quilt. Why the Kansans?

"I'll tell you," said Nina. "Out in Kansas they prohibit practically ev-everything a fellow wants to do. But the folks out there are the kindest in the world. They're big-hearted and they're decent."

"And the men," we murmured huskily, "are men."

"You said it," said Nina, "and if there's anything that a woman with a sense of humor needs it's a man that's a real man to buck her up."

"Somehow or other the world has got a notion that if a woman's got a sense of humor she hasn't any sensibilities. In reality it's the other way around. A woman with a sense of humor is a woman that's been hurt so much she'd go crazy if she didn't joke about things."

"All humorists are unhappy. Mark Twain was. I know I am. And as a humorist I want to tell you that the biggest joke that ever came into my life is the present mix-up."

"Here I, who hate divorce, who love my home, who adore my kid—God bless him—am compelled to get a divorce because I can't help myself.

"Here I, who never wrote a line of smut in my life, who refused all kinds of money rather than write for sex-pandering publications, am dragged into a scandal and accused of doing the last thing on earth that any decent woman would think of doing."

Here I, whose big idea was to bring up my kid to be a real American, have to hamper him at the outset with a lot of truck that's all a lie, a lie, I tell you. She almost screamed the word.

"Ha," said Nina.

"Ha," said we. Then we both settled down to the same handkerchief.

APPROVES RAILWAY LINE

Indiana's First Municipal Street Railway Line is Three Miles Long

Washington, Ind., Jan. 14—Indiana's first municipal street railway line has been approved by the state public service commission.

It is just three miles long and becomes the property of the city of Washington through the generosity of a former citizen, Liba F. Graham, who sold his "railroad" for $15,000, though its actual value is $20,000 more than that amount.

Graham, with a Hoosier's love for his home town, wanted to do something for the city, so he sold it his car line.

The railway stretches three miles from the factory district in the east part of town to the railroad shops in the west.

That the citizens patronize the line is shown by the neat profit it makes every year.

The municipal electric power plant, constructed four years ago at a cost of $140,000 will furnish the "juice" for the cars.

HIGH SCHOOL IN BIBLE CONTEST

R. J. Duke, Assistant State Y. M. C. A. Secretary, Organizes Promotion Class of 36 Today

SCHOOL ALLOWS HALF CREDIT

Preliminary Plans Made For Friendship Conference in March To Be Conducted By College Men

R. J. Duke, assistant secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, organized a high school Bible school class in Rushville today and made preliminary arrangements for a college high school friendship conference to be held here March 15, 16 and 17.

J. H. Scholl, superintendent of schools, was appointed general chairman for the conference and a number of committees were appointed to make arrangements for the meeting, which will appeal to all senior and junior high school boys.

The high school Bible class, which is the twentieth formed in Indiana high school during the winter, will enter a state contest January 28, which will continue for twelve weeks, ending April 18.

At the end of the contest the members of the class will undergo an examination, and those who pass it successfully will be entitled to one-half credit in high school work.

A group of thirty-six high school boys, an average of four to the class, was selected today to promote the Bible class campaign and enroll new members. It is expected that from 75 to 90 per cent of the boys in high school will become interested in the project.

The promotion group organized by electing the following officers: Foster Hilgess, president; Farrell Conover, vice-president; Ira McIlwaine, secretary-treasurer; Ralph Noah, sergeant-at-arms.

The Rushville Ministerial association is backing the Bible class work and March conference, and will lend its assistance to perfect the plans. A group of college Y. M. C. A. men will come here for the conference and will be in charge of it.

An effort will be made to find a regular place for the Bible study in the school day. Instructors are yet to be selected.

JUDGE ASKS JURY TO PROBE HIS CONDUCT

T. W. Hutchinson of Clay County Circuit Court Thus Answers His Critic, Mayor Layne of Brazil

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING CRAPS

(By United Press)
Brazil, Ind., Jan. 14—The feud between Judge T. W. Hutchinson of the Clay county circuit court and Mayor Layne of Brazil came to head today as the Clay county grand jury met at Judge Hutchinson's orders to investigate charges of misconduct. In instructing the grand jury, Judge Hutchinson said he was the victim of the "man with a fate" and ordered the grand jury to investigate thoroughly the rumor of his misconduct which he charged had been circulated by Layne's cohorts.

Judge Hutchinson's unusual action in calling the grand jury to investigate himself was the result of rumors that he was at a "stag" party at the Elks club on December 27 when it was raided by a posse of city police headed by Mayor Layne.

The word went around that "his honor" was caught in a crap game "with the bones in his hand all ready to roll a natural", but Hutchinson waived all his constitutional rights with respect to testifying against himself, and will appear before the grand jury personally.

SHOP CHANGES HANDS

The barber shop and pool room in East First street, belonging to Cliff Smiley, changed hands today, and became the property of William O'Brien of College Corner, Ind., who traded his shop there for the local one.

BREAKS ARM CRANKING CAR

William Brann, Captain of Company C, Suffers Injury Sunday Evening

William Brann, captain of Company C, Indiana National Guard, broke his right arm while cranking his automobile Sunday evening. The small bone below the elbow was broken and the muscles in his arm were strained and bruised. The physician who attended him said that his arm would have been more seriously hurt if he had not clung to the crank until it slipped loose from the shaft of the engine.

Joe Brown, who is employed by Mr. Brann as a truck driver, also suffered a broken arm one day last week while cranking a delivery truck.

FREIGHT AND TICKET AGENTS ARE COMBINED

Jesse M. Higgins is Appointed Head of Pennsylvania and C. I. & W. Offices Here

CONSOLIDATED DURING WAR

Jesse M. Higgins, formerly Pennsylvania railroad agent here, and Pennsylvania and C. I. & W. freight agent following consolidation of the two railroad stations during the war, has been appointed freight and ticket agent for both companies, it was announced today.

The appointment was effective January 7. It is said that the Pennsylvania railroad has been anxious to combine both freight and passenger offices under one head, and when L. C. Snodgrass, former ticket agent for both railroads, was granted a leave of absence December 1, last, the Pennsylvania took the matter up with the C. I. & W., which resulted in the Pennsylvania freight agent receiving the combined appointment.

Mr. Snodgrass, who had been C. I. & W. passenger agent, and the combined passenger agent following the consolidation, was granted a leave of absence and went to Phoenix Arizona for an indefinite stay.

E. F. Rardin, who has been acting ticket agent and day operator for the two roads since the departure of Mr. Snodgrass, will continue to act as day operator.

One of the organizers will be here to discuss the plans. Rushville formerly had one of the branch orders, but it became delinquent several years ago. The Haymakers is a side issue to the order, consisting for the most part of fun.

FEBRUARY 15 WILL REMAIN DEADLINE

Automobile Owners Must Have 1924 Plates by That Time Regardless of Litigation Pending

STATEMENT BY ED JACKSON

(By United Press)
Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 14—The deadline for securing auto license plates for 1924 is Feb. 15, Ed Jackson, secretary of state, said today.

The state auto department has recommended to the state police and city and county officials of the state that no arrests be made until February 15. This has been the custom in previous years.

Jackson indicated that the deadline would not be extended this year, although the legality of the auto license law is soon to be fought out before the supreme court and many owners have been delaying purchase of license plates pending the outcome of the litigation.

Jackson said the money collected from license plates will be kept intact until after the case is settled so that there will be no confusion in making refunds in the event the law is held unconstitutional.

SPRINGPORT BANK IS ROBBED OF $600

Two Masked Bandits, Both About 25 Years of Age, Hold-up Cashier While He's Alone

NEWCASTLE SHERIFF NOTIFIED

(By United Press)

Springport, Ind., Jan. 14—Henry Bowers, cashier of the private bank here, after a check-up this afternoon estimated the amount taken by two bandits who held him up early this morning would not exceed $600.

Bowers explained that the bank, which is a small institution, does not have facilities for safe-guarding large sums of money and that only enough currency for each day's business is kept on hand.

Two masked bandits, both of about twenty years of age, held up Bowers, cashier when Bowers was alone. They ordered him to hold up his hands and rifled the cashier's cage of all money in sight.

The bandits escaped in an Overland touring car. Before entering the bank they cut the telephone wires between the exchange and bank. Bowers ran to a store near the bank and phoned the sheriff at Newcastle that the bandits had cleaned him out.

DUAL INVESTIGATION OF WRECK IS BEGUN

Knox County Coroner And Officers of C. & E. I. Railroad Probe Killing of Six Persons

ALL MEMBERS OF ONE FAMILY

(By United Press)

Vincennes, Ind., Jan. 14—The Knox county coroner and officials of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad today started a dual investigation of the grade crossing accident which cost the lives of six persons, all members of the family of Claude Whittenmeyer, 34, a farmer, when their auto was ground to pieces by a passenger train at Emison, north of here, yesterday.

Whittenmeyer and his wife, Lulu, 32, three daughters, Helen, 16, Lorraine, 4, Mary, 8, and a son Charles, three months old, were killed. Every member of the family perished.

Whittenmeyer stopped to let a freight train pass the crossing and then drove on in the path of the passenger train, speeding to make up lost time, on another track.

The auto was smashed and the fragments hurled against the Emison station. The six occupants were thrown on the tracks. The bodies were terribly mangled.

Whittenmeyer and his family were driving to the home of a relative for Sunday dinner.

Two men standing in front of the Emison station narrowly escaped being crushed by heavy parts of the auto which were thrown against the station.

WILL BE QUESTIONED ON SCHOOL HACK FIRE

Robert Kemp and Harold Keller of Near Gwynnville Ordered to Appear Before State Fire Marshal

SCHOOL FIGHT IS BLAMED

Robert Kemp of Gwynnville and Harold Keller of near town, have been served with subpoenas to appear immediately before Newman T. Miller, state fire marshal for questioning concerning the burning of a school hack operating between Gwynnville and Morristown.

According to residents of that community, a school hack was burned either late in October or early in November, and after the fire John E. Harper, trustee of Hanover township, is reported to have received a threatening letter in which the writers declared "we'll get you." For a signature appeared a dagger, supposedly dripping with blood. The letter was shown by Mr. Harper to several of his friends.

The burning of the school hack is said to have been the result of a township school fight. It was said that in other parts of the township motor trucks were used to transport the children, while the hack between Gwynnville and Morristown was horse drawn. Before the hack was burned, it was stated that an effort had been made to wreck it, and when this failed it was set on fire.

FIRST CASE OF MEASLES

PREPARES WAY FOR A REVIVAL

The Rev. R. W. Sage Suggests Three Lines Along Which Church Needs Occasional Tuning

REVIVAL OF BIBLE STUDY

Personal Prayer and Making Clear Demands of Christian Life Are Other Needs

In view of the fact that the First Baptist church will begin a special series of evangelistic meetings the first Sunday in February, the Rev. R. W. Sage spoke Sunday morning on "The Revival We Need." The church has secured Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Proctor, of Mt. Washington, Ky., to conduct the music during the meetings. Mr. Proctor will direct the music and Mrs. Proctor will preside at the piano.

Taking for his text, "Wilt thou not revive again, that thy people may rejoice in thee?" Psalm 85:6, and "O, Lord, revive thy work in the midst of the years," Habakkuk 3:2, the pastor said in substance:

"Revivals are a necessary part of God's plan for the church, at least under present conditions. No matter how fine the instrument, it needs an occasional tuning. So the church needs the touch of its Divine Master in just such a way as the finest musical instrument needs to be keyed up again and again. But what kind of a revival does the church need? I would suggest three lines along which we need a revival.

"First, we need a revival of interest in Bible studying. Great revivals have always come when God's people have gone to his Book for new visions of duty and service. At times the ancient Hebrew peoples lost their scriptures and when they did idolatry and sin swept over them. But when they rediscovered the scriptures and pledged allegiance, God's blessing came in full measure.

"We also need a revival in personal prayer. There must be that communion with God which is made possible only by a sense of his ever-present companionship. There must be definite private prayer for those who do not know Christ as a personal Savior. Try to make a prayer list and use it every day as you pray.

"Then, too, there must be a revival which will make clear the meaning and demands of the Christian life. Preaching which does not do that is not worthy of the name. We do not need more people at the price of intelligence. The mere words, 'I accept Christ,' are not enough unless we understand what we mean. Those who come to accept him must come with a clear conception of the demands as well as the privileges of the Christian life."

AT ST. PAUL'S CHURCH
"The Invisible Companion" was the subject of the morning sermon at St. Paul's M. E. church. Sunday morning the text being taken from Matthew 28:30, "I am with you always." He spoke in part as follows:

"No more remarkable promise has ever been uttered. Jesus promised that he himself, a personal, conscious, intelligent presence, would abide forever with his disciples as they went forth to the conquest of the earth. No wonder these last words of Jesus became first with his followers. They gave to his person, his teaching, his ministry, his death and resurrection, new and luminous meaning."

NO TRACE OF JUDGE'S FORD

License Plate Found Near Homer May Have Been Lost Friday

No trace has been found of the Ford sedan belonging to Judge Will M. Sparks, which was stolen from in front of his residence Friday evening, and unless it is found within a few days, all hopes for recovering it will be abandoned.

A license plate from the machine was found near Homer, and it is not known whether it dropped from the car Friday afternoon when Miss Dorothy Sparks was in that community, or whether the thieves threw it down in making their getaway with the car.

meanings. The sunset of their fellowship with Jesus in the flesh was the sunrise of their fellowship with Him in the spirit. In the dynamic power of their invisible, but ever present companion they were to think, to teach, to toil, to suffer, till they placed the world itself at the feet of their Lord. "The marginal reading of 'Alway' is 'all the days.' Lo I am with you all the varied days of your life. How manifold these days are! There are glad days and sad days and mad days and dark days and gray days. There are the days of youth, then life is fair and full of promise for the boundless future. There are days of midlife, when the battle is hard and the burdens heavy, then the illusions and dreams and hopes of youth seem fading into the hard stern realities of existence. There are the days when the knees weaken, the steps falter, the strength declines and the hands tremble, for life's little day is passing and sun will soon be setting and the shadows will steal across the sky. "In all these days we have the promise of his immediate presence, a world presence that transforms the world for us and transforms us for the world."

The power of the Invisible Companion was illustrated from lives transformed and from the achievements of great missionary heroes, inspired by the presence of the Invisible Companion.

AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN
The Rev. Gibson Wilson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, spoke Sunday morning on "The Relation of Our Possessions to Our Life." He drew his lessons from the 16th chapter of Luke. The first lesson was from the unjust steward. The second from Dives and Lazarus. He spoke in part as follows:
Read Luke chapter 16:1-2 and 19 to 31.

We have here two great sermons delivered by Jesus on the right use of our earthly possessions with regard to our prospects of another world.

The first address is on the unrighteous steward. His rascality and wrong doing are not commended but the zeal and enthusiasm are recommended as traits worthy of emulation by the people of God.

The world can teach the Church a great many lessons and it would be well for the church if her members lived with the enthusiasm for the things that are eternal that the men of the world live for the things that perish with this life.

The second address is on Dives and his attitude toward Lazarus. He is not condemned because he wore purple and fine linen, nor because he lived in abundance, and every meal was a festival, but because while he lived he utterly ignored Lazarus and used his wealth only for his own gratification.

Doing nothing when Lazarus lies at our gate is great wickedness. His attitude toward his wealth as related to other fashioned for him a character which went with him into the land beyond the grave.

Both these addresses were delivered to about the same audiences. They have wise instruction for us in our day. When Abraham says: "Son remember," we are cautioned, that memory is the first voice that meets us on the eternal shore. The future is so interwoven with the past that it is indispensable to the happiness of the redeemed and strikes deeply into the sadness of the lost.

Let us notice first, what is our relation to God. We are stewards God is the Creator, and by virtue of that, he is the original owner. Men platted off the earth's surface, and by improving it, made it more valuable. For the privilege of controlling that portion they pay a purchase price.

Back of it all they are using God's lands, or properties. We speak of my land, my house, my business, and yet we are only God's tenants.

And being God's stewards he has the right to demand the rental of the steward. The unbeliever is under obligation to him as well as the believer. If the earthly steward were not faithful to his landlord he would soon be compelled to give up his stewardship.

In the Old Testament, no person was considered to have given a gift to God unless he had given beyond his title. The tenth was the lowest percent that God was willing to accept.

If I borrow a large sum of money from the bank, and merely pay the interest, I haven't paid my debt until I have paid on the principal. I have only paid for the use of the money.

Notice again that there is great power for good in Christian stewardship. The way we handle our money and possessions here has a great deal to do with our religious enjoyment, and religious life, here and hereafter.

Christian organizations should drive forward the business of the Church with the same enthusiasm that they drive forward their own business.

Let a band of men bind themselves

together with that faithfulness of stewardship to God and they can make this the strongest church in the country.

Let us render a faithful account of our stewardship.

In addition to the title let us give a thank offering. Let us take a lesson from "The children of this world" and with their enthusiasm and zeal let us enter into the great tasks of the Church with its world wide missions.

AT FIRST U. P. CHURCH

The morning sermon at the United Presbyterian church was based on Genesis 47:9 "Few and evil have been the days of the years of my pilgrimage."

Jacob had few advantages compared to us moderns. He had, no school, no Bible, no church, no Bible school, no religious literature, few helpful associations. His father was devout and disposed to meditation. His mother was one of the best women of her day; but very far from perfect. Jacob had pure blood in his veins. His body was strong and his brain clear. At an early age he left home with all his earthly possessions tied up in a napkin. He had his hands and his brain and a chance to win a diploma in "The University of Hard Knocks."

Jacob had also severe temptations. He was mother's pet and she was a master of strategy. Rebekah was not the equal of Isaac either in character or in honor. She taught her son to step aside into questionable practices. She laid the plan to deceive Isaac in all its subtle details. She answered every objection raised by Jacob and soothed his boyish conscience by being willing to take the blame. Then she pushed him on to lie and deceive and steal. God pity the boy whose mother teaches him to do evil. At Haran Jacob was tricked by Laban and in turn he, by devious methods possessed himself of the flocks and herds of Laban. Jacob's sons deceived him in the matter of Joseph and the shadows of a great sorrow rested on his life. So he must say to Pharaoh towards the close of his life "Few and evil has been my days."

Jacob was not able to trust God. This was the secret of his sin and of his sorrow. He did not trust God to fulfill His promises. It had been revealed to Rebekah concerning Esau and Jacob, "the elder shall serve the younger." Again "Jacob have I loved but Esau have I hated." This gave Jacob the first place as touching the birthright and the patriarchal blessing. But he could not await God's turn and way; but secured it by deception and hard bargaining.

He could not trust God to prosper him in his business. So he schemed, and he planned and he won success by dishonest and indirect methods.

He could not trust God to protect him from danger. At the Jabbok he was in real distress because Esau was coming with 400 armed men. How much better it would have been to have dealt squarely with his brother and then to have committed himself to the protection of his God.

Faith is the solution of life's problems. Jacob was a hero of faith, but he fell back on that when all else failed. Wilful child of nature that he was, he must be scourged by the whips of God's providences until he learned faith. Wiley suppliant that he was, he must be chastened by a father's hand until he learned that God can be depended on, and that His promises are sure.

Life should ripen into triumph. God never intended any of His children to say at the close of life "few and evil have been my days." "The path of the just is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day."

In the evening the sermon was based on Matt. 22:12 "And he was speechless." The rejector of salvation will be speechless when his Lord says "Why?" The neglecter of God's worship cannot answer when His Lord requires of him a reason. The disobedient professor of religion will find no apology in the day when he is judged.

WINTER HAZARDS FOR MOTORISTS

Safety Message From Hoosier State Auto Association Carries Word of Caution to Drivers

PAVED ROADS DANGEROUS

Icy Pavements, Slick Roads, Soft Roadways, Deep Ruts and Gulleys, Cause of Accidents

(Special to the Daily Republican.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 14—Winter driving of motor vehicles, while quite not so "crowded" as in the summer, carries its especial hazards which many owners fail to realize or, knowing them see fit to try and "get by" without proper precautions, according to a safety bulletin just issued by the Hoosier State Auto Association, the state-wide organization of automobile owners.

"With the steady increase in mileage of hard surfaced roadways" the bulletin says, "traffic is bound to be heavier than previously even during the winter months, and these hard, smooth road surfaces offer certain hazards in wet, stormy and wintry weather not common to gravel road."

The safety message continues as follows: "Wet concrete roadways or wet brick or asphalt pavements present the ever-present danger of skidding with any sudden application of the brakes. This fact alone should induce more caution in regard to speed of winter-time driving. We urge every driver to think of the chances he is taking—and then take them again."

"Icy pavements present the most extreme hazard and call for the precaution of using tire chains of some description. Otherwise the driver will have no control over his vehicle in case he tries to stop, slow-down or dodge some other vehicle at even a moderate rate of speed. Even with chains on he is apt to be entirely out of control without a split-second's warning and he is more apt to skid into a ditch, a telegraph pole, or worse, than he is apt not to.

"Beware of the rain that freezes as it falls, if you are on a hard surfaced road. Beware of the snow that turns to slush and then freezes at nightfall."

"Beware of frozen snow ruts, also, for without chains you can't get out of them and are apt to go skidding to a terrible smash in making the effort. Even with chains 'cross overs' from one set of ruts to another is risky and should not be attempted without slowing down even to less than ten miles per hour."

"Paved hills will be extremely tricky if there is ice or snow thereon. Descending grades of even moderate steepness should be taken 'in gear' with the engine acting as a brake on your descent."

"Never attempt to pass another car near the top of a paved hill or to overtake and try to pass another car on a paved curve. Too many chances of meeting another vehicle from the opposite direction at any second. This applies to all seasons of the year."

"Driving at night during a rain or snow storm without a windshield wiper is almost suicidal and has many potentialities for manslaughter by reason of the danger of running down a pedestrian. Even a horse will feel his way in places where he can't see where he is going. Be yourself! That is, be at least as wise as the dumb beasts."

"In driving over a paved road after a fresh-fallen snow ALWAYS DRIVE TO THE RIGHT OF THE PAVEMENT. This will result in at least two sets of wheel tracks, which when they thaw and freeze will give at least a two-way thoroughfare. Beware of the single track set of snow-ruts down the middle of the road AND DON'T MAKE SUCH RUTS YOURSELF!"

"In short, all drivers must remember they can not spin along on paved roads that are covered with snow, ice or rain, with the same freedom as during the summer season. Unless all drivers apply safe and sane thinking while driving the toll of accidents during the present winter is apt to be serious."

The Hoosier Auto Association announces that its work is continuing with hardly no interruption, seeking to increase the number of danger warning signs and direction signs. "We don't stop in our work for safety or in our activities for protection and service to the automobile owners of Indiana," the bulletin says, and adds: "We are again urging an increased membership support among owners of the state to help finance our untiring efforts in their behalf."

The session will be the principal gathering of real estate men of the country to be held this year for the formulation of policies.

L. F. Eppich of Denver, president of the association, will present to the meeting the program for the association as recommended by the directors. This program includes gathering a comprehensive body of real estate education and advancing real estate development through state and national legislation.

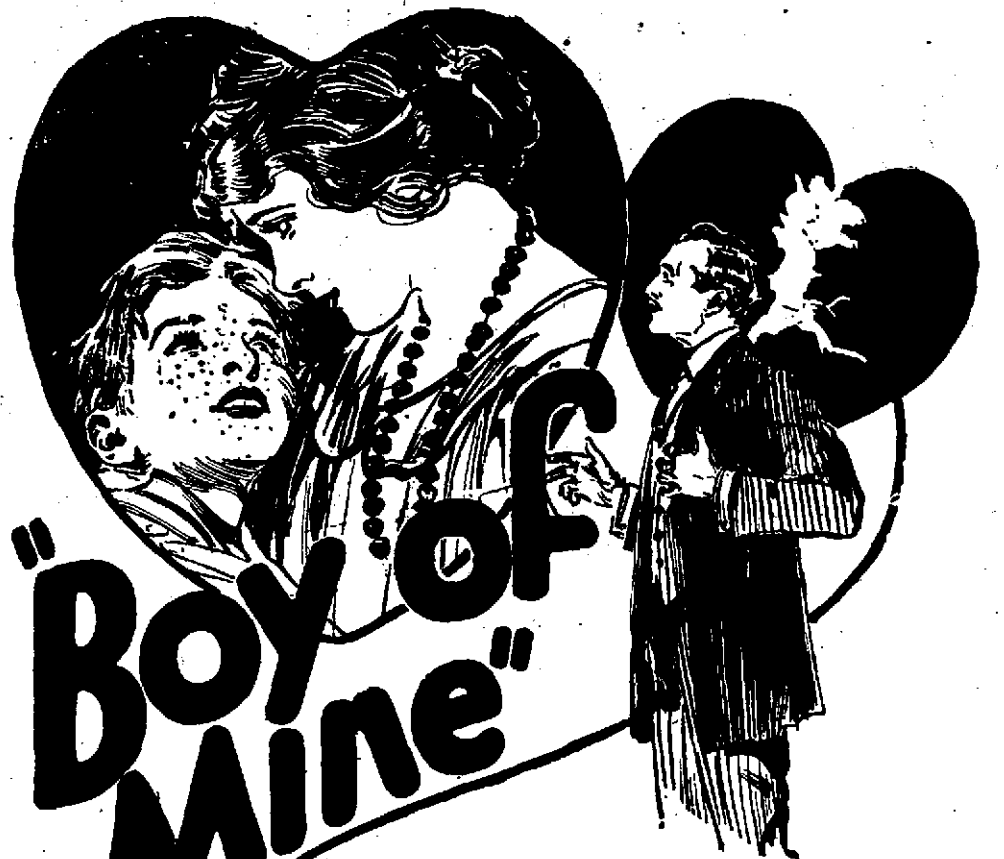

Directors and officers of the association, forming the advisory board will hold sessions Jan. 16 and Jan. 20, preceding the following the sessions of the national committee.

The subject of taxation will be presented to the meeting by Charles T. Moffet of Minneapolis, chairman of the taxation committee, which has made an extensive study of the question. He is expected to recommend support of the Mellon tax plan in congress.

GOOD ROADS' INDUCEMENT

Cause of Many Physicians Coming to This State From Kentucky

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 14—Good roads in Indiana offer an inducement for young physicians to leave Kentucky for Indiana, according to Dr. William T. Gott, secretary of the State board of medical registration and examination.

The greater ease with which a physician can serve a rural community over hard-surface roads actually is a determining factor in many young Kentuckians coming to Indiana to practice medicine, Dr. Gott said.

As a class, more young Kentuckians settle in Hoosier rural communities than natives of the other surrounding state because roads in the other state compare favorably with Indiana roads, than do Kentucky roads, he declared.

Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths.—Prov. 3: 5, 6.

The Bok Peace Award

It is a foregone conclusion that the Bok peace plan essay will receive a favorable majority in the referendum that is being conducted through the press and the magazines.

The stage is all set for it. All altruistic people who hope to end war by some means or other will vote for it, regardless of whether they are prepared for an intelligent vote on the question through reading and a thorough study of the problems that stand in the way of international peace.

But a referendum in many respects is like an election, only less convincing, because these who are interested vote for the project under discussion, some of those opposed are strong enough in their opposition to take the trouble to vote and a large disinterested per cent fail to take any side.

Those who have studied the winning plan in the Bok peace award say that it is a rebash of peace proposals heretofore made, with the single exception of one new thought—that the manufacture and sale of arms be limited during times of peace.

Word comes from Washington that the senate, which is clothed by the constitution with authority to make peace, will not officially recognize the winning plan.

Perhaps this is as it should be. The framers of the constitution had the good judgment and foresight to realize that the common people, by talent and disposition, were not learned enough in the important questions of international relations, to decide them intelligently. So they delegated to the chief executive and the more deliberative branch of the congress the authority to determine our policy toward other nations.

No one can deny that an effort is not being made to find a practical plan for ending war, which the people generally will accept. Many disagree on plans that have already been proposed and many believe that the United States should enter the league of nations, but nothing has been found yet that this country can sponsor, which is free from entangling foreign relations, such as opponents of the league of nations oppose.

There are now three outstanding plans before the present session of congress in the form of joint resolutions.

One of them provides for the outlawing of war and an international agreement of such judicial character as "would not shackle the independence or impair the sovereignty of any nation."

Another would amend the constitution to provide for a referendum of the voters on the question of a declaration of war.

Still another calls for a constitutional amendment providing for the conscription of money, industry and property as well as men in case of war.

This constant seeking for a way to end war indicates an honest effort to find the road to peace and who can say that it may not bear fruit?

Invest Your Money at Home

International bankers and bond houses are importuning the American public to invest its money in foreign bonds, and many are doing so.

But are such investments at this time wise?

Let us see.

During the past few years hundreds of thousands of Americans have invested good American money in German marks. They bought the marks at a low figure, expecting to become suddenly prosperous when mark went up to par again. But the mark didn't go up. Instead it went steadily down, until today it is hardly worth the paper on which it is printed.

With the exception of England, Europe is dotted with countries that owe the American government vast sums of money, about seven billions of dollars, on which not even the interest is being paid.

A foreign government bond is no more secure than the government that issues it. We have an illustration of the fact in the utter collapse of the mark.

If these foreign securities were as valuable as bond houses represent them to be the rich men of those countries could and would absorb them, or at least a majority of them. Do you see them doing anything of the kind?

If foreign countries can not or will not pay the interest on what they already owe us is it the part of wisdom for us to pour more good money into a bottomless pit?

There are plenty of opportunities in this country for the investment of every dollar that is available for that purpose, and American investments are the soundest securities in the world today.

When Europe makes an honest effort to pay us what they owe us it will be time to think again of sending money abroad.

But until then wisdom warns us to keep that money at home.

WEBB PUTS OVER 9-POINT VICTORY

Defeats Fountain City High School
Team of Wayne County at Modern Appliance Saturday Night

STAYS IN FRONT ALL THE WAY

Visitors Show Tight Defense Early in The Fray, But Webb Soon
Breaks Through to Basket

The Webb high school basketball team made the Fountain City high school team of Wayne county take the count here Saturday night, by the score of 29 to 20, in a game that was easy for Webb, and they were not forced at any time to exert themselves.

The first half ended 18 to 11, and in about all stages of the game Webb kept a 7 to 10 point lead. During the first few minutes Fountain City had a tight defense, but Webb gradually broke through, and got many under the basket shots.

Each team missed a great many shots, and the visiting team was handicapped by the low ceiling at the Modern Appliance building, where Webb plays their games.

Osborne scored first for Webb, and Evans, the Fountain City floor guard, colored, who was fast as lightning, missed a chance on a goal. Gibson for Webb missed a couple also, and the score was tied at two when Hatfield caged a field goal.

Fair for Webb scored a field goal, and came right back and scored another, making the count 6 to 2. Osborne soon followed with one, that gave Webb 8 and the visiting team 2. Gibson fouled and Evans made another point for his team.

Webb made it 10 to 3, when Davidson tossed in both chances on Thomas' foul, and Hatfield soon counted one point for the Wayne county team on a Webb foul, making the score 10 to 4. Fair scored his third field goal for Webb. The local team missed two chances to score on Hyre's foul, and Gibson failed to register the two goals. Davidson, Webb center, dropped in a goal for two points, that made the score 14 to 4.

When Gibson fouled the Fountain City floor guard again, Evans scored the one point, and Hatfield soon tain City hopes, with the score 14 to 4 counted a field goal, that gave Evans 7. Dillon fouled, and Osborne missed. Dillon scored a field goal for the visitors, making the score 14 to 9.

Davidson was given two chances on a foul, and missed each, and in turn caught the ball off the hoop and tossed it in for a field goal, and Osborne scored next from the field, making the score again doubled 18 to 9. Before the half ended, Evans dropped in a field marker, leaving the score 18 to 11 at the half.

Webb opened the second half with an old-time stride and the basket was hit for two times in quick succession by Davidson and Osborne, and Fair scored on Evans' foul, making the score 23 to 11, in the first few minutes of play.

Dillon for the visiting team scored a field goal, and Evans missed two shots on a foul, but Thomas took advantage of an open chance and battled the ball in from the field, making the score 23 to 15, with Webb still holding a good margin.

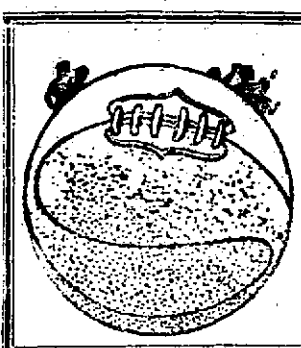

Within the next few minutes Osborne was given two chances on a foul committed by Evans, but the Webb player missed, and then Osborne fouled Evans and he missed his two chances.

Thomas for the visitors scored 1 and Osborne matched it, making the score 25 to 17. Hatfield scored on a foul, making Fountain City one more point. Then Davidson scored a point on a foul for Webb, making the score 27 to 18. Hatfield for Fountain City missed a foul, and ran up on it for a field goal, making the score 27 to 20, but before the game ended Fair tossed in another field goal, putting the final touch of 29 to 20 on the game.

HITTIN' 'EM AND MISSIN' 'EM

Webb didn't have much trouble in trouncing the Fountain City team here Saturday night, 29 to 20, and at no time did the Spiders have to put forth any great effort. Those from the Fountain City stated that their team was not playing in good form, and Hittin' 'em told them that it was a good thing for them that Webb wasn't showing their class either.

WHAT THEY THINK OF RICHMOND

Fountain City and Hagerstown fans were numerous, and between halves, what they said about Richmond would make the Quakers throw up the sponge right now. Petty jealousy was in evidence, as these two Wayne county crowds have about as much love for the county seat, as a person has for Sing Sing. Such prophecies that Richmond would be easy for 'em in the tourney, and that they hadn't showed anything yet, would only tend to strengthen our opinion that Richmond has the best of the bargain, and that Fountain City or Hagerstown has about as much chance winning from them as Pudding would have defeating Passiac.

Webb, when they are working right, has one of the best teams in these parts, and when the size of the school is taken into consideration, Hittin' 'em wouldn't be a bit surprised if they wouldn't win the first prize.

Coach Patterson of the Webb team had his team playing against the fellows he coached last year, as he came from there to Webb this year.

K-TOWN GETS A JOLT

Greensburg's 23 point victory over Knightstown Saturday night sorta looks like the Tree City aggregation is coming back, and they will give our Lions a race January 31. The Greensburg team has been strengthened by a first class forward since the game played in that city.

TROJANS SHOW THEIR STUFF

After dropping a two point game to Spiceland Friday night, Newcastle came back Saturday night and won a 10 point game from Technical of Indianapolis. The Trojans are now laying plans to snatch a bite from the Ikniks Friday night.

Shelbyville is making a big campaign to launch one of the regional tourneys. Would be sorta handy to us, but if it is all the same to Mr. Husa we'd just as leave go to Bloomington or Ft. Wayne.

SHELBY BOOKS LIONS FOR NEXT YEAR

Shelbyville according to Short Passes, will meet several new teams next year on their schedule, and for some unexpected reason, they have listed the Lions on their card. That's fine, Shelby, wish we had a game with you next week. The following comment is made.

In addition to these Columbus, Franklin, Martinsville, Bloomington, Fort Wayne, Richmond, Lebanon, and others will be on the Shelbyville schedule. Muncie will also be played. South Side of Fort Wayne will appear here next year, as Shelbyville played there this season. Richmond will be met at Richmond, and Bloomington will be played at Bloomington.

NEWCASTLE PICKS A BIG TEN

Markin' 'em up at Newcastle has picked his Big Ten and quotes the following:

We promised to pick our Big Ten for you, and here it is:

1. Anderson.
Webb 20 Fountain City 20
Osborne F. Thomas
Fair F. Hatfield
Davidson C. Gibson
Gibson G. Evans
Wagoner G. Hyre
Substitutions, Webb, Young and Elliot; Fountain City, Showalter.
Field goals, Osborne 5, Fair 4, Davidson 3, Thomas 2, Hatfield 3, Dillons 2, Evans. Foul goals, Fair, Davidson 4, Hatfield 2, Evans 2. Referee Brown

2. Bedford.
3. Muncie.
4. Frankfort.
5. Martinsville.
6. Shelbyville.
7. Bloomington.
8. Vincennes.
9. Jefferson, of Lafayette.
This Big Ten was picked impartially to any one team, and is based on the showing made by the various teams. It will be changed to accord with the standing of each team as they win or lose. If we were to keep on picking, we would give the following teams honorable mention in the order in which they come: Crawfordsville, Columbus, Bainbridge, Kokomo, Richmond, Rushville, Rochester and Mooreland.

LIONS IN 9TH PLACE

C. E. D. writing to Hoosier Courtship in the Richmond Palladium says his team is capable of playing better, and adds this:

"But I think the team can overcome their difficulties and get going again. Here is my idea of the Big Ten: Bedford, Anderson, Muncie, Frankfort, Richmond, Martinsville, Franklin, Connersville, Rushville, Kokomo. Sincerely, S. E. D."

From the Press Box of Kokomo, comes the following:

Bloomington is in the upgrade having defeated Martinsville 32 to 24 Friday night, and the "Roarin' Lions" spread fear in the hearts of Rush county teams by defeating Liberty 57 to 11.

GAME HERE FRIDAY

The Big Birds of Carthage play here Friday night and will meet the Webb team. Good chance to look 'em over, folks.

Rushville, Indiana

Dear Hittin' 'em—

"Rushville to the finals," the battle cry of the Rushville crowd two years ago. It looks as though we might use the same cry again this year, although its rather early yet to decide. Rushville has just as good a team this year as they had two years ago, with a lot more "fight". We are a lot better situated in regard to substitutes this year than we were then and only a great calamity can keep us away from the coliseum along about the first or second week in March. Since this is the time of picking Big Tens, Big Sixes and all county teams, and everybody has a right to their own opinion, here comes my selection:

Big Ten: Bedford, Anderson, Muncie, Franklin, Vincennes, Frankfort, Rushville, Bloomington, Shelbyville and Martinsville.

Big Six: Rushville, Carthage, Maudlin, Moscow, Raleigh, and Webb.
All county team: forwards, Hilligoss and Snoddy, Rushville, Baker, Mahillat; centers, Gasmell, Moscow and Craig of Raleigh; guards, Osborne, Webb, Camella, Rushville and McCorkle, Milroy.

Say, Hittin' 'em, you'll be right at home up there at the coliseum with George Purcell, Bobby Starr and the rest of the bunch and you can show them, it's not all wind that blows from this direction.

Hoping to see you at the coliseum, I am yours,
R. A. CIESS
"Corner of 7th & Willow," Rushville.

P. S. What game was it last year in one of the tournaments that Rushville played two overtime periods, and what was the score?

We are unable to find the records for the tourney last year, and will look further, and tell you tomorrow.

NINTH PLACE AGAIN

E. T. C. of Kokomo, makes his selection to the Press Box in the Tribune, as follows:

Press Box—Here's my Big Ten. How does she look?

1. Bedford; 2. Anderson; 3. Frankfort; 4. Franklin; 5. Muncie; 6. Shelbyville; 7. Martinsville; 8. Columbus; 9. Rushville; 10. Kokomo.

I am not crazy about this Frankfort crew but they do impress me as being a bunch of clean, hard fighters. Anderson and Bedford are undoubtedly the class of the state.

Punch Winning Factor in Ball

HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Jan. 14.—"Inside baseball will not do it all," Connie Mack said recently, "the punch is more necessary."

The tall leader of the Philadelphia Athletics was explaining the reasons that prompted him to start buying all the young minor league stars he could afford to acquire.

Mack is one of the smartest of all baseball men and when he admits that the sock is more to be desired than brain, it is a striking indication of what Babe Ruth and the lively ball have done to the game.

Mack has had a smart baseball team for two years and last season he started out with the Athletics as if his long-expected arrival had arrived. But the team slumped in mid-season, dropped twelve games in a row and was out for the year.

Hitting, as Hans Wagner pointed out, has almost entirely changed baseball. It has developed new ideas of fielding, rendered base stealing almost obsolete and removed pitching from the list of fine arts.

Still, with all the slugging, poor pitching and spotty fielding, it is a good old game. The fans like hitting and it is the business of the magnates to furnish, as near as possible the kind of baseball that is most desired.

While the value of hitting has become exaggerated, it is no theory that a team needs a certain amount of slugging or consistent hitting to win a championship.

It has been a good many years since a team went through to a pennant without hitting strength. The factor that hitting has become in the modern game was demonstrated last season when the Giants clubbed their way through to a pennant with a most miserable staff of pitchers.

KNOTTY PROBLEMS IN BASKETBALL

The Republican has arranged with the Joint Basketball Rules Committee, which promulgates annually the amateur rules governing the game, to answer all questions regarding interpretation of the playing rules. Readers desiring information on any problems which may have arisen during a game can have their questions answered officially by addressing the Joint Basketball Rules Committee, care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed 2-cent stamped envelope for direct reply.

Ques.—Player A holds his opponent player B, and at the same time B runs with the ball. How are the offenses penalized? Ans.—A's foul for holding is penalized by free throw or throws; B's violation is not penalized. The same situation occurs when a player is fouled as he shoots for goal and the ball goes out of bounds. Although the player has caused the ball to go out of bounds and thereby has committed a violation, only his opponents' foul is penalized.

Ques.—At the close of a recent game, the referee announced the score as 28-26 in favor of the visiting team. Soon after, the scorers in checking up, agreed that they had made a mistake and that the score was a tie, 28-28. The referee went to the dressing room and ordered the players back for an extra period. The visiting team refused to return on the grounds that they had taken their showers and were dressing. Was the game forfeited to the home team? Ans.—It should not have been forfeited, but should have been declared a tie game. The referee's original announcement of the score ended his connection with the game and he had no right to order the teams later. If both teams consented to return and play off the tie, the referee would resume charge of the game.

Ques.—If the ball strikes an official, is the ball dead? Ans.—No, the ball continues in play just as though it had not touched the official.

Ques.—In a recent game, one of our players was dribbling down the court when an opponent who had rushed to meet him, was knocked down. The referee called a foul on our player. Was this right? Ans.—Questions like this cannot be answered from a description of the play; it is a matter of judgment and the play must be seen. The foul is on the one whose action was responsible for the personal contact, and the officials in charge of the game should be trusted to give impartial judgment. In general, a dribbler has no right to run into an opponent who has taken a position on the floor. On the other hand, the opponent has no right to run into the dribbler in an attempt to get the ball. In the latter case, even though the opponent is knocked down, the foul may be on him. Sometimes it is a double foul, both players being responsible for the contact.

COACHES IN RETURN GAME

Fairview Will Attempt to Even up
With Rush County Mentors

The big drawing card this week at the Fairview high school gym will be the Rush County Coaches, who meets the Fairview A. C. team in a return game on Wednesday night.

The coaches are the only team in Rush or Fayette counties that have defeated Fairview this year, and they won from them on the Modern Appliance floor in this city, 36 to 32, in a real game.

So Wednesday night Fairview is going to try to even up with the coaches. Fairview went good last week when they defeated Shelbyville and Arlington, last year's district champions.

The curtain raiser will be played between Glenwood high school and the Fairview high school, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

WOMAN SEEKS BALM FROM FATHER AND SON

$100,000 Breach of Promise Suit of Mrs. DeBouchel, On Docket For Hearing January 30

IS NEW ORLEANS BEAUTY

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 14—The one hundred thousand dollar breach of promise suit of Mrs. Onezima DeBouchel, New Orleans beauty, against Asa G. Candler, aged Atlanta millionaire, is on the docket for hearing in federal court here January 30.

Since the suit was filed some months ago, Candler has married a former stenographer.

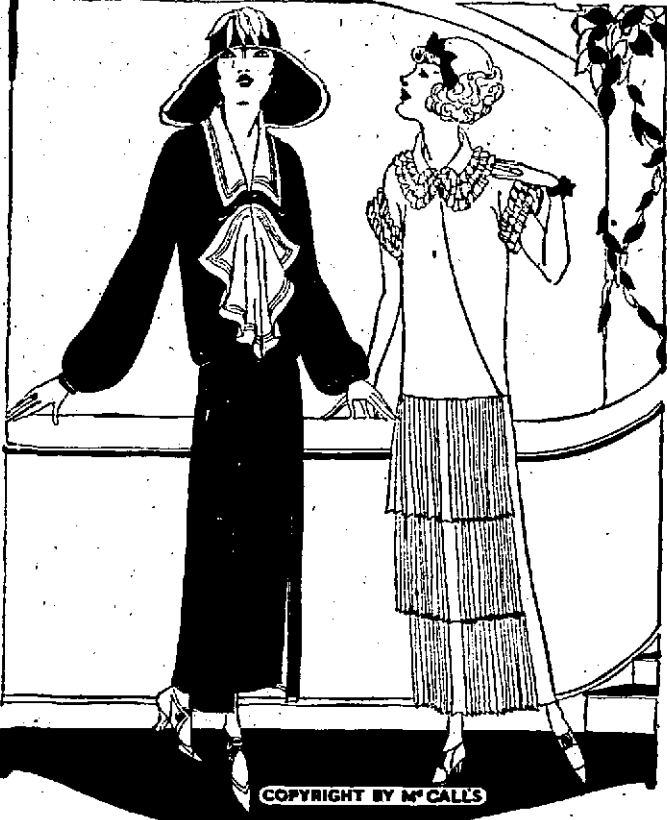

Mrs. DeBouchel filed the suit in response to Candler's claim that after their engagement he had cause to believe the New Orleans beauty had been indiscreet during the Confederate Veterans convention here some months previous, for which she was the official sponsor.

After repeated efforts to force the aged millionaire to make public the source of his information and specify his insinuations, Mrs. DeBouchel filed suit for damages.

The suit had been only temporarily set on the docket for January 30, but as both sides have indicated they are ready for the hearing there probably will be no postponement. The case will be heard in federal court because the principals are residents of different states.

Next month the damage suit of Mrs. Clyde Byfield against Walter Candler, son of Asa, is scheduled to be heard in the Decatur superior court.

Dresses Trimmed With Own Materials

Many of the new frocks have no trimming except their own material deftly used. Some like the ruffled frock sketched, use pleated flounces and extra trimming of many tiny ruffles. Others, more tailored in their lines are trimmed with a jabot. The ruffled frock sketched would be an appropriate dancing frock for a young girl.

YOU CAN'T KID A KIDDER

Tears, Jokes About Drug Store in Kansas

By JOSEPHINE VAN DE GRIFT
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

New York, Jan. 12—There's some people that've nearly killed themselves laughin' at the way Nina Wilcox Putnam kids the life out of folks and their troubles.

So when Nina blew in from Florida to find herself confronted by a divorce action that didn't take; and some matrimonial mix-up or other where some women claimed that she, Nina, was trying to take the other woman's husband, we just couldn't resist 'lopin' over to Nina's hotel to find out how she was bearin' up under the strain.

We found Nina's little ole sense of humor still hittin' on all six, thank you.

"When I get out of this mess," she

confided confidentially "I'm going out to Kansas and take up a quarter section of land and start a drug store."

Just what got Nina to thinkin' of the Kansans at that particular moment we couldn't make out. There she was, propped up in a brass bed with dents in it, her hair, which is her chief glory, stuck under one of those lace caps than which nothing looks less graceful on a woman, and her shoulders wrapped up in some cafe-au-lait mixture of a bath robe.

Her eyes were all red and swollen with weeping and her hands were just achin' to start pluckin' at the quilt. Why the Kansans?

"I'll tell you," said Nina. "Out in Kansas they prohibit practically ev-everything a fellow wants to do. But the folks out there are the kindest in the world. They're big-hearted and they're decent."

"And the men," we murmured huskily, "are men."

"You said it," said Nina, "and if there's anything that a woman with a sense of humor needs it's a man that's a real man to buck her up."

"Somehow or other the world has got a notion that if a woman's got a sense of humor she hasn't any sensibilities. In reality it's the other way around. A woman with a sense of humor is a woman that's been hurt so much she'd go crazy if she didn't joke about things."

"All humorists are unhappy, Mark Twain was. I know I am. And as a humorist I want to tell you that the biggest joke that ever came into my life is the present mix-up."

"Here I, who hate divorce, who love my home, who adore my kid—God bless him—am compelled to get a divorcee because I can't help myself.

"Here I, who never wrote a line of smut in my life, who refused all kinds of money rather than write for sex-pandering publications, am dragged into a scandal and accused of doing the last thing on earth that any decent woman would think of doing."

Here I, whose big idea was to bring up my kid to be a real American, have to hamper him at the outset with a lot of truck that's all a lie, a lie, I tell you." She almost screamed the word.

"Ha," said Nina.

"Ha," said we. Then we both settled down to the same handkerchief.

Marriage License Clerk Expecting More Business

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 14—Miss Margaret Mahoney dusted off the counter of her shop here and waited for an unusual rush of customers.

For, you see, it's leap year, and Miss Mahoney deals in the very-necessary marriage licenses.

"Now, fellows, I'm expecting an increase in business," said Miss Mahoney to her two assistants as she put up the feather-duster. "When a couple comes in, let's try to guess if it's the result of a Leap Year proposal."

Can You Afford to Speculate?

EVERY time you buy something you are either speculating or making a definite investment.

Few people can afford to speculate. Yet many do it continually, in making their every-day purchases. And it is so unnecessary! The advertisements make it easy for any one to avoid taking a chance.

The merchant or manufacturer who advertises, realizes that the good-will of his customers means money in the bank to him. He knows that public confidence in his product and public respect for his own character are as valuable as his credit at the bank.

So he makes the individual satisfaction of his patrons, their loyalty and their friendship paramount issues in his business.

When you buy an advertised product, you can know in advance what to expect in return for your money. You can count on its being right. You are making an investment.

But when you buy nameless, unbranded merchandise, you are taking a chance. You are speculating.

Know what you buy. The advertisements will tell you

APPROVES RAILWAY LINE

Indiana's First Municipal Street Railway Line is Three Miles Long

Washington, Ind., Jan. 14—Indiana's first municipal street railway line has been approved by the state public service commission.

It is just three miles long and becomes the property of the city of Washington through the generosity of a former citizen, Liba F. Graham, who sold his "railroad" for $15,000, though its actual value is $20,000 more than that amount.

Graham, with a Hoosier's love for him home town, wanted to do something for the city, so he sold it his car line.

The railway stretches three miles from the factory district in the east part of town to the railroad shops in the west.

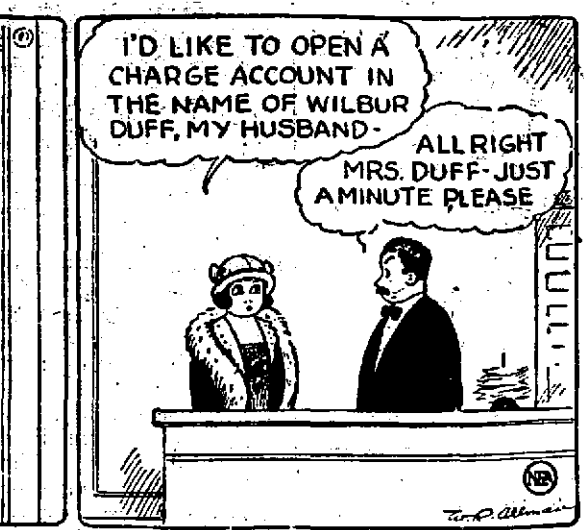

That the citizens patronize the line is shown by the neat profit it makes every year.

The municipal electric power plant, constructed four years ago at a cost of $140,000 will furnish the "juice" for the cars.

KIDNEY TROUBLE?

The Kidneys are the Blood Filters—When They Weaken and Stop Up, the System Becomes Overloaded With Uric Acid

Indianapolis, Ind.—"I was troubled for several years with my stomach and had kidney disease. I finally began taking Dr. Pierce's Anuric (kidney and backache) tablets and after using a few bottles I was wonderfully improved. I have not had an attack for many months and feel that I am completely cured. Many other medicines which I tried did me no good."—George McQuade, 1009 Park Ave.

Don't wait for serious kidney ailment to set in. Help your weakened kidneys with Dr. Pierce's Anuric. At all drug stores or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

MOVIES

Realism in Picture

"Realism, even though it entails trouble and expense," is one of the mottoes of J. K. McDonald, who produced "Boy of Mine," a Booth Tarkington story, for First National, at the Princess theatre today and Tuesday.

One of the early scenes of the picture takes place in a typical small town church. The easiest means of getting an interior of such a type of church would have been to have built a section of it on the studio stage. But even though it would have taken the stage carpenters but a few hours to erect such a set, McDonald would not agree to use anything but the real thing. So a thorough search was made of Los Angeles and vicinity for a place of worship which could answer the requirements.

After several days his scouts found just what was wanted—and in the most unexpected location—in the center of the city.

Arrangements were made with the congregation for the use of the church. The lights and cameras were moved into the edifice and within a few minutes after the company arrived the sacred building was echoing the calls for "lights," "camera," and other calls so familiar on the studio stage.

"Boy of Mine" was directed by William Beaudine. It's cast includes Henry B. Walthall, Irene Rich, Ben Alexander, Rockliffe Fellows, Dot Farley and Lawrence Lickaly.

Tom Mix At Mystic

When Lambert Hillyer directed "Mile-A-Minute Romeo," Tom Mix's new William Fox production, completed one of its most strenuous scenes he sighed deeply and compared it to Napoleon's retreat from Moscow. The comparison was apt and Tom Mix, who will be seen in this particular production at the Mystic theatre today and Tuesday was in the same condition of fatigue as Napoleon when it was all over. Briefly, it consisted of a cross-country flight, over hill and dale, river and lake, field and march. It was wild, hectic, and highly enervating.

Mix rode on the back of a harnessed horse. The horse was pulling a two wheeled racing vehicle on whose seat was another player in the cast. The trio, Mix, the cameraman and the extra player, all experienced to the arduousness of making motion pictures, emphatically declared that they never worked so hard in their lives.

JOINT MEETING

The Parent-Teacher's and Farmer's associations of Richland township will hold a joint meeting at the Richland M. E. church Thursday evening. A special entertainment has been arranged for this meeting and all the members of both organizations are urged to attend. The officials of the Farmer's Association would like for all farmers who are planning to order tagage or seed oats to send in their order or have it ready to give in at this meeting.

WANT ADS GET RESULTS

Ten Miles Long

What is said to be the longest petition ever submitted to Congress is shown here. It contains names of 315,345 persons who want taxes reduced. Representative George P. Darrow of Pennsylvania made the presentation. Left to right: Speaker Gillette, Representative Darrow, and Charles F. Jencks, one of the Farm Journal, who collected the signatures.
